IHCC Advisory Agenda and Supporting Information

| Agenda Item | Supporting/Descriptive Information |
|----------------------------------|---|
| I. ArcGIS Desktop vs. ArcGIS Pro | With the push to migrate to ArcGIS Pro, we would like your thoughts about whether we should continue to include ArcMap as one of the applications we use in teaching Geospatial courses for a year, or two, or three more; or if migration to Pro over the next year would be feasible as graduates of our program become available to the workforce. Currently, we do use ArcMap for two introductory courses, but weave in ArcGIS Online and some Pro. After the introductory courses, we have been migrating to Pro (especially since more of the ArcMap tutorials and materials are being retired). |
| II. New Course | We propose adding a new GIS course to our program. We have combined Raster-Based Data and Data Acquisition & Analysis into one course for future cohorts. Therefore, we will develop a new 3-credit course to insert into the empty slot. What trends do you see or anticipate that a new course could address? (See the links below for an overview of our program and the courses offered.) The following are suggested: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• GIS for Decision Makers• Location Analytics• GIS in Agriculture• Your Suggestion? |
